Asia Precision Public Company Limited (“Company”) operates as a holding company with investment and shareholding in other companies. Current Asia Precision PLC group structure is as follows:

The Company’s business is divided into 3 groups for clarity in management and governance, and to support future expansion. The business groups are as follows:

1. Engineering and electrical engineering design and consultation for the construction of renewable-energy power plants, distributing materials, tools, equipment, spare parts for the construction of power plants, other energy businesses, water business as well as factories producing steam, pure water and chemicals to sell to the petrochemical industries or to communities and environmentally-related businesses or engineering services, designing and consultation, services to construction projects as well as maintenances, consists of A2 Technology Co., Ltd., APCS Technologies Co., Ltd., and A2teeravat joint venture Co., Ltd.
2. Manufactures and distributes high precision parts and components made from such metals as steel, forged steel, stainless steel and aluminum. Shapes, characteristics and specifications are as designed by customers. The Company’s customers are 1st tier suppliers of auto parts. At present, the Company aims at producing and distributing products to the automotive industry, air conditioning and refrigeration compressor industry and digital camera industry, consists of Asia Precision A.T. Co., Ltd., and Asia Precision Tech Co., Ltd
3. Production and distribution of raw water, consists of Cholkij Sakol Co., Ltd.

EPC Construction business has grown rapidly in recent years, resulting in higher revenue and profit levels which exceeded those of Metal Parts Manufacturing (AUTO) group. Going forward, it is expected that revenue from EPC Construction business will continue to grow; in contrast with Metal Parts Manufacturing (AUTO) group, which expects a steady or declining performance.

Currently, the main group revenue is from EPC Construction business, which consists of A2 Technologies Co., Ltd., APCS Technologies Co., Ltd., and A2teeravat Joint Venture Co., Ltd.

Your faithfully
